Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<MemberFirstName>> <<MemberLastName>>:

Energy One Federal Credit Union (“EOFCU”) is committed to protecting our members’ information. In accordance with various federal and state notification statutes, we are writing to let you know that we recently identified and addressed an incident that may have involved some of your information. This notice explains the incident, the measures we have taken in response, and some additional steps you may consider taking.

What Happened

On June 4, 2020, EOFCU experienced an incident that involved the unauthorized encryption of certain files on some devices on EOFCU’s computer network. On the same day we discovered the incident, we immediately took steps to secure the network and a forensic investigation was started. The investigation determined that in addition to encrypting certain files on EOFCU’s network, the actor may have accessed some information stored in EOFCU’s computer systems, including files with EOFCU member information.

What Information Was Involved

We cannot confirm which information may have been accessed, but it is possible that the actor accessed a file containing your name, address, financial account number, and Social Security number. Although we do not have evidence confirming that your information has been accessed or misused, we wanted to let you know about this incident out of an abundance of caution.

What We Are Doing

To help prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future, we are providing additional cybersecurity training to our employees and are taking steps to further enhance our existing security measures. As a precaution, we have secured the services of Experian® to offer you a complimentary one-year membership in Experian’s IdentityWorks™. This product helps detect possible misuse of your information and provides you with identity protection support focused on immediate identification and resolution of identity theft. IdentityWorks is completely free and enrolling in this program will not hurt your credit score. For more information on IdentityWorks, including instructions on how to activate your complimentary one-year membership, as well as some additional steps you can take to help protect yourself, please see the pages that follow this letter.

What You Can Do

We take this matter seriously and encourage you to remain vigilant by reviewing all of your financial account statements for any unauthorized activity since EOFCU was not able to determine the exact member information potentially compromised. If you see charges or activity you did not authorize, please contact EOFCU immediately.

For More Information

We regret that this occurred and apologize for any inconvenience. If you have any questions, please call 1-800-800-0000, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Central Time.

Sincerely,

Steve McNabb
CEO

If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
